What to Expect at Your First Appointment

Upon your initial visit with Rae Implant Dentistry, our clinical team will provide a complimentary evaluation, 3D diagnostic scan and consultation. From there, we'll explain your diagnosis and varying treatment options. Sometimes, your treatment can be started on the same day as your consultation. However, a more complex procedure or treatment could require additional appointments to complete your treatment. Please help us provide you with the best personal care possible, by bringing the following information to your initial consultation.

-  Any X-Rays (if applicable)
-  A list of medications you are currently taking
-  Any dental insurance information

Please advise our staff if you have a medical condition that may be of concern or if you are on any medication or require medication prior to any dental work. The first step towards a stunning smile is to schedule an appointment.
